Mike Norris – Author, Guide, Media Star

Learning About Big Green Lake –

A Remarkable Deep Clear Water Fishing Opportunity

As one of the Midwest's top tournament anglers and fishing guides, Mike Norris's extensive knowledge of fishing covers techniques from basic innovative strategies. This flexibility makes him as successful fishing for panfish and northern pike as he is at catching bass and walleye.

Mike's expertise doesn't end on the water. He is a dynamic seminar speaker, radio host, outdoors writer and photographer.

Before moving to central Wisconsin in 2008 Mike hosted weekly outdoors radio shows on "The SCORE" and WBIG. And in between tournaments, he guided on Geneva Lake and he wrote weekly outdoor columns for the Aurora Beacon and Elgin Courier newspapers and other regional fishing publications. As a bass tournament angler Mike dominated regional bass tournaments. And as walleye angler, Mike founded "The Walleye Masters Institute" which was attended annually by hundreds of walleye enthusiasts.

Mike's numerous magazine articles, photo credits and television appearances combined with his extensive tournament, radio and seminar experience make it easy to see that Mike Norris is truly a multi-media operation. And now let me give the floor to...Mike as he teaches us how to fish Green Lake to catch monster smallmouth and other species.
